SEASONALITY

Gdansk

Gdansk is the heart of a metropolis of almost 1,5 million people. The sixth largest city in Poland enchants with its rich history and beautiful architecture. This is also a place where every year business meetings are held. The hotel base in Gdansk is an excellent set of facilities with varied standard from two to five stars. Recently fantastic new facilities have been developed in the city that offer unrivalled potential to organise meetings, workshops and seminars. It is sufficient to mention Museum of the Second World War, European Solidarity Centre, Gdansk Shakespeare Theatre, AMBEREXPO, Olivia Star or the Polish Baltic Philharmonic. Additionally, its good location and communication (a modern international Gdansk Lech Walesa Airport, A1 motorway and the sea port) make Gdansk a perfect location for conferences of all types. Additionally, Gdansk is a place where large foreign companies keep locating their offices and the available office space is already vast and keeps dynamically expanding every year.

DYREKCJA office building

The Dyrekcja Building is one of the oldest buildings on the Imperial Shipyard, dating back to 1878. It was the witness of many historical events, like the strikes of shipyard workers, protesting at its doorsteps in the name of their rights and values. In September 2020 we've opened this historic landmark and welcomed the first tenants, after completing extensive refurbishment works. Throughout the office building, we offer a wide variety of conference rooms and the Dok event space, located on the ground floor of the building.

Sopot

Sopot is a small city located between two large neighbours – Gdansk and Gdynia. It has 40,000 inhabitants but its hotel base is extremely large. There are top class hotels that are often selected by the most important guests visiting the Tricity. Sopot is a well known SPA resort, often termed the "summer capital of Poland" and indeed it is difficult to find a restaurant table or a room to sleep between June and September despite the countless number of restaurants and numerous hotels. Traditionally this is a place with the bustling night life of the entire agglomeration. Sopot has interesting conference facilities like big hotels or the Forest Opera and it is excellently communicated with both Gdansk and Gdynia (about 20 minutes by the Fast City Rail to both cities). Its exceptional atmosphere makes it a perfect location to spend evenings after long meetings and conferences.

Region

Pomerania is a very differentiated voivodeship. Apart from the metropolis made up of Gdansk, Sopot and Gdynia, there are also other very interesting places in the region. Malbork is the best example (only 60 km away from Gdansk) as it offers an interesting option for the meeting in one of the world's largest castles!

The beautiful regions of Kaszuby and Kociewie offer not only beautiful hills, forests and blue lakes but also numerous conference facilities and hotels where conferences can be organized in excellent natural surroundings. Towns such as Kościerzyna, Tczew, Sztum, Kwidzyn, Wejherowo, Rumia, Reda, Slupsk or Kartuzy tempt visitors with beautiful architecture and attractive prices.

It is worth mentioning that the region is well connected with Gdansk with a well-developed road network, regional and metropolitan railways.
