GDAŃSK DECLARATION OF FREEDOM AND SOLIDARITY

On the thirtieth anniversary of the inception of free country, We, the Citizens of the Republic of Poland, mindful of the act of evil which involved murdering the Mayor of Gdańsk, Paweł Adamowicz, stand together hoping that our Homeland will restore its public life.

While enjoying the Independence regained in 1989, we pay homage to all the people whom we owe our state and to those who anchored our country to the European Union.

Aware of our ties with Europe, we stand for democratic tradition, free from national or religious fanaticism.

Proud of August 1980 originated in Gdańsk, faithful to the achievements of Solidarity Movement led by Lech Wałęsa, we wish values which united our nation could become reality again.

We hope for renewal through freedom, solidarity and self-governance we recognize as foundations for the new beginning.

We want free citizens, equal in rights and obligations, not only to support each other in solidarity, but also independently shape the future of local communities and the whole country. Respect and promotion of these values shall be the best practice of Polish democracy and civil society as well as guarantee of prosperity in the Republic of Poland, a home for all citizens.

We want democracy without hateful disputes.

We want public sphere free from lies.

We want to build our common future in the spirit of dialogue.

We want better politics.
